Philips Photonics

Celebrates shipment of over 10 million VCSELs

ULM, Germany – Philips Photonics, arised from U-L-M photonics GmbH and Philips, today announced it has shipped over 10 million VCSEL's.

Philips Photonics, a leading supplier of VCSEL's technology, develops rapidly. It now pronounces that it has overstepped shipping 10 million pieces of VCSEL's to it's customers. This milestone is met by offering single-mode devices, designed for high performance tracking systems for a computer mouse.

In October 2006 Philips Lighting acquired U-L-M photonics, based in Ulm (Germany). This company offers Philips the opportunity to enter new markets. Philips Photonics brings laser design, R&D and production capabilities.
